TEFL FREQUENTLY
ASKED QUESTIONS

WHAT IS TEFL?

If you've ever thought about teaching English, it's likely you've heard the term TEFL. But do you know what it really means?

TEFL stands for Teaching English as a Foreign Language, and it's a certificate you need if you want to teach non-native speakers to understand and communicate in English.

With a TEFL certificate, you can teach students of all ages - from young learners to adult business language learners - anywhere in the world. Our courses are recognised globally and is the key to kick-starting your English teaching career abroad, home or online.

WHY DO A TEFL COURSE?

There are 1.5 billion English-language learners worldwide, and this number is only expected to grow.

As more and more people are required to speak English around the world, the demand for EFL teachers is skyrocketing. That means now is the perfect time to launch your English teaching career.

Here at the TEFL Institute, we strongly believe the best reason is that your TEFL Certification is your passport to travel the world! Whether you aspire to teach online, at language schools or simply travel the world, obtaining a TEFL certificate is the answer.

IS TEFL FOR YOU?

If you're passionate about education, flexible working and travel, a TEFL certification is for you.

A TEFL certification not only lets you live abroad, but it's also the gateway to making money while travelling the world. And, if travelling isn't part of your plan, TEFL is the chance to work from home and teach English online or at language schools.

Whether you're embarking on your first career or looking for an exciting career change, a TEFL certificate is the perfect opportunity to live the life you've always wanted.

WHO CAN TEACH ENGLISH AS A FOREIGN LANGUAGE?

If you are a native or fluent English speaker, you can teach English overseas and online. Don't have a teaching background? That's no problem. If you have your TEFL certification, you can teach English as a foreign language. Teaching English is perfect for you if you:

- Are passionate about teaching and helping others to learn
- Have a good knowledge of the English language including sentence structure, vocabulary and grammar
- Are open and willing to adapt to other cultures and languages
- Want to travel and see the world
- Are looking for an exciting and flexible career path
- Can be an ambassador for your home country
- Are outgoing and confident speaking in front of a class or ready to build your classroom confidence

HOW DO I BECOME TEFL CERTIFIED?

TEFL courses are mostly fully online or combined in-class and online experience. We know at first it can be overwhelming choosing the right provider but remember to always go for globally accredited certification. It's also worth double checking companies reviews to make sure customers are satisfied with their training.

To be a TEFL teacher you must take an accredited TEFL course, with a minimum requirement of 120 hours. Getting a TEFL certification from a recognised, trusted provider is essential when it comes to receiving high-quality training and finding a job. That's where we come in. The TEFL Institute is recognised globally and offers a range of accredited and government-regulated TEFL courses to prepare you for the different types of international teaching that's on offer.

NATI J.

I am completing the 310 Hour Hybrid Level 5 TEFL Course with the TEFL Institute. This is the most fantastic TEFL platform that you could possibly find on the market recently. Their support, their motivation before and after you start a course is beyond brilliant. The courses itself are made up with so much clear information, there is no way of not understanding them. As a non-native speaker, I was a bit worried about whether I'd be good enough. But, especially with Kate's help, I was so motivated to start it. She gave me hope and belief that I can do anything I want. And it turns out she is absolutely right.

CLASSROOM VS.
ONLINE TEACHING

WHETHER YOU WANT TO TEFL IN A CLASSROOM OR ONLINE, THE CHOICE IS YOURS WITH A TEFL INSTITUTE CERTIFICATION. ALTHOUGH ALL OPTIONS LET YOU WORK FROM ANYWHERE IN THE WORLD, THERE ARE SOME DIFFERENCES TO CONSIDER WHEN CHOOSING THE BEST COURSE

PREPARING LESSONS

Preparing for lessons comes with the territory whether you teach online or in a classroom. When you teach a class in person, you are responsible for creating the entire lesson plan. However, if you are teaching online, your employer will often prepare the lesson, including presentation slides and exercises. Of course, it's important to review the slides before the online lesson, but the level of prep is usually much less than teaching in a classroom.

WORKING HOURS

The hours you could be expected to work play an important part in your decision. If you work in a classroom, your working days will be determined by the school's term hours (typically Monday to Friday between 7.30 am and 3.30 pm). Or, in the case of private language schools, classroom hours could be all year round and include evenings. As an online teacher, you will have more flexibility over your schedule, but you'll have to factor in time zones if you teach students in a different country.

CLASS SIZE

Teaching English in a classroom means you could be teaching class sizes of 12 students up to 50, whereas online classes are usually one-on-one or with a handful of students. In both cases, classroom sizes will depend on the school and what country you are teaching in. But it's important to think about what class size you'd prefer and feel most comfortable teaching in when deciding whether to teach online or in class.

INTERACTION WITH STUDENTS

A huge benefit of teaching English in a classroom is that you get to interact more closely with your students. As you will see them face-to-face regularly, it's much easier to build a rapport with your students. You can also connect with students outside of the classroom rather than being limited to the time in your class. On the other hand, it can be difficult to get to know your students when you are teaching them online.

TEFL PROSPECTS

Whether you teach English in a classroom or online, overseas or at home, TEFL is a hugely rewarding career. It allows you to make a big difference to the lives of people all around the world, while living a life you love.

What's more, the range of courses offered by the TEFL Institute means you will be prepared with the skills and knowledge you need to teach English in every situation. Our team is made up of TEFL experts with real TEFL experience, and we've helped many aspiring teachers find employment through our network of global connections.

Combine all this and you'll be in the best possible position to live your best TEFL life. With a TEFL certification you can work from home or anywhere in the world. From exotic faraway lands to somewhere a bit closer to home, the choice is yours when it comes to teaching English.

CIARAN DE BURCA

I completed the 120-hour Premier TEFL and, having just completed the 30-hour online course with the TEFL Institute, I learned that there are lots of different routes you can take in terms of where English teaching can take you. These can range from the type of students you will focus on helping to the way you reach them online. You can work for yourself or for an established company who will provide the lessons for you. You don't need to have any teaching experience in many cases where you work for established companies and it can be a great way to earn money from home. I would definitely recommend this course and the TEFL Institute who provide it.

"If thinking about it makes you excited, imagine actually doing it!"
